Children's Fitness Tax Credit

The federal government has created a Children's Fitness Tax Credit to cover eligible fees up to $500 for enrolment in a physical activity program. The purpose of this credit is to encourage families to enroll children and youth in physical activity programs, as a means of helping them maintain a healthy active lifestyle. The credit can be deducted on a parent or guardian's annual income tax statement

The following qualifies for the tax credit:

- Ongoing programs that are a minimum of once per week for eight weeks. The programs need to be a minimum of 30 minutes of sustained moderate to vigorous physical activity for children under ten, or a minimum of 60 minutes for children ten and over.
- Fees for camps that emphasize a physical activity theme. To qualify, the camp program would need to last at least five consecutive days, during which at least 50% of the activity during the program hours of each day would involve physical activity.
